

Randolph Outlaw

Randolph Outlaw was a very early member of Exodus. He is included in this section because his journey, and later his many writings, were an inspiration to the other members of Exodus through the years of his incarceration and after. While in prison Randolph obtained his high school diploma, an Associates Degree from Dutchess Community College, a BA in Psychology from Marist College and a Master of Professional Studies in Prison Ministry from New York Theological Seminary. (see NYTS under Exodus Programs/Lingo and Legacy)
